MANY WEDDINGS.

On Wednesday evening. Mr. John Strain
di Miss Mabel Archart, both of Middleook, this county, drove to Staunton ng to the county clerk, procured a te license. The bride-elect was left Wilson's wagon-yard while the groom out to find a preacher. Ray Waller set out to find a preacher. Rev. Walter Q. Hullfhen, of the Episcopal Church, was found, and the happy couple was married at the wagon-yard in the presence of a few friends, after which they left at once for their home, at Middlebrook. William Berry and Miss Ada Moyers were married in Staunton Wednesday evening and took the night train for the West, where they will make their future home. Both are from this county. Edward Swink, of Grafton, W. Va., and Miss Jahnie Hunter, daughter of Mr. John M. Hunter, of this county, were married at Tinkling Spring Church on Tuesday, and left immediately for their truffs home in the West, Miss Hunter is a beautiful and accomplished young lady, and has many admirers.

Mr. J. F. Byrd, of Richmond, has taken charge of Highland Park for the street car company here, and is at work to make the park a success, and will add soveral attractions. One of the chief features is the enlargement of the Park Casino. Commencing Monday night there will be an up-to-date vaudeville performance by a first class company. This company will remain here nearly the whole season, and will give a number of performances. There will also be dancing overy night at the pavilion.

Variety Springs, the summer resort just west of Staunton, has opened up, and the manager, Mr. H. G. Eicheberger, is pleased with the prospects for a good season.

At the regular meeting of the Stonewall.

t the regular meeting of the Stonewall mp this week, Rev. G. W. Finley, of a county, and members of the camp, o represented the local members at New Orleans reunion, delivered an eresting talk to the members. He spoke the highest terms of the reunion and visit to that city.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

We know whereof we speak, for, after much persuasion on our part, we succeeded in getting him to disgorge, and we herewith present a few of his lines. His thoughts run on love, and from that we would infer that he was wrapped up n love, but we have been informed that much is not the fact.

Therefore, under the circumstances, we cel that we may apply the verses to attile Chips, who, we feel certain, is in ove, for lave says so us to the ethereal und brings back to us the days of our outh. It goes like this way:

part; To feel thy lips pressed close to mine In one sweet lingering kiss; To hold thy hands within my own, To know eternal bliss,

I long for thee, I want out thee,
My true love, my only love;
I live for thee, I'd die for thee,
My sweet love, my dearest love;
Ah! If my heart you could but see
You'd find naught there but love for thee;
Then come to me, my queen, my all,
For true love's voice to thee doth call.

If we could write as good poetry as that we would go into the Byron or the Burns or the Longfellow business, and we think we'd probably do better than living in a garret with a candle.

Here is another song of passion, just as sweet as the other, and if we were a member of the Bjou Bunch of Beauties we'd feel that we were the one meant:

Just to hold you in my arms, love, So tight you ne'er could leave me, Just to look into your eyes, love,

Harry Tucker.

And know that you believe me;
Just to tell you o'er again, love,
How my heart with love doth beat,
Just to hear you say again, love,
I am yours, my dear old sweet;
Just to know that you were happy,
And that I had made you so,
Just to feel you loved me only
Nothing better could I know;
Just to think that never more, love,
You and I should ever part,
Just to have you ever, darling,
Close beside my trusting heart;
Then would all the world be brighter,
Then would all my dreams be true;
All I want and all I long for,
Ijving, loving only you.
But that isn't all, for Dave has dron

But that isn't all, for Dave has dropped into song, and he has written a beautifut one that we wish were set to music, so we could sing it in our beautiful voice to our sweet Brown-Eyed One. Here it 'tis:

While idly straying o'er the sand,
Of a city by the sea,
My thought were far o'er the sandy bar
Of a maiden dear to me.
I took from it's nest upon my breast
A rose, now faded and dying;
Her hand so fair had placed it there,
For her my heart is sighing.

aly neart is thine forever.

A little word, but scarcely heard,

And all that love did sever;

Tis withered, pressed, but on my breast

That rose I'll always wear.

I love her yet, I'll never forget

The closing of Miss Alice H. Blair's school with Miss Mary F. Fitzhugh as assistant, took place on Monday, 15th. A most delightful outing to Reservoir Park was enjoyed by both pupils and teachers. One of the most enjoyable features was the presence of many of the friends of the school. The children sung many of their songs learned during the session; games also added much to the entertainment. The following distinctions were awarded: stinctions were awarded; Gold diplomas, Mary Alvis, Charles El-

BRANDON, VA., June 29.—Brandon on the James presents an animated picture these balmy June days. Harvest is in # the rising of the sun until the going down thereof. Mr. Gordin Harrison, of Savannah, Ga., has charge of the estate at present in the absence of Mr. John M. Douthat, who was so seriously injured some time since by his horse rearing and falling on him. The crops in this section promise a fair yield. The peanut growers are going largely into the business this year, having been much encouraged by good yield and high prices last season. Extensive improvements have been recently made in the interior of Brandon Church. A road screen has been erected in front of the chancel, a stained wainscoating has been put around the body of the church, and the organ has been removed from the loft of the church and placed down-stairs. Mrs. Heliner, of Elizabeth, N. J., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Mann Page, of Upper Brandon.

Roosevelt, said:
"I have not announced inyself as a candidate for the vice-presidential nomination, but I have known that some of my friends have entertained the feeling that the position ought to come to this coast and that I was probably as available a candidate for it as any other citizen of the section. Mr. Roosevelt can carry the great West without the assistance of a Western name, and I think he will favor some Eastern man."

speech to encourage the friends of international union and peace. In his speech he said:

"Let us do what we can to promote everywhere the establishment of peaceful arbitration. When a small nation is in danger of being bullled by a stronger one, other strong nations should interfere and impose arbitration.

"Look at the United States," he continued, with enthusiasm; "the action of the United States in almost forcing two strong European nations to accept arbitration in the recent Venezuelan question deserves the admiration of the world. France and every European power should do likewise.

"Let us remember that what we do for others we do for ourselves. A service rendered to one nation, even ever so small, is a service rendered to all nations. Why should we spend our time in years of toil and study to prolong human life as long as we allow the demon of war to exist and carry off in a few weeks or months thousands of lives?"

CARS ON BROAD STREET. ndependent Line in Operation Creates Much Excitement.

Much Excitement.

A street car line in full operation every day is such a distinct novelty in Richmond that it caused a blockade of interested spectators on Broad Street yesterday. The line is not a branch of the Passenger and Power Company, but an Independent system that has been constructed in the show window of Walter D. Moses & Co., one of the leading Broad Street merchants. It is a miniature street car track and car, operated by electricity, it is built of steel, and is admitted by all experts to be a perfect model. The crowds that have congregated to watch the toy have almost blockaded the sidewalk at times, and the police have been kept busy making the crowds "move on."

Chicago, Ill., 222 South Peoria Street, Oct. 7, 1902. I cheerfully give an endorsement for Wine of Cardui for the sake of suffering women who may read these lines. Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she went at once and bought a bottle. I really felt no better the first week after using it and had little hope that it would help me, but after a two weeks trial I began to slowly improve and I took nineteen bottles in all and believe that it saved my life. Can you wonder then that I am grateful to Wine of Cardui when I owe that medicine so much? I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value. Contrast the healthy and happyness distinct this will be suffered by the suffering it they but knew of its value. Contrast the healthy and happy condition of this well-known woman when she "cheerfully" wrote this letter and her pitiable state when she cared little whether she had the dread consumption or the fatal Bright's disease, having no desire to live, and you will get an adequate idea of the benefit Wine of Cardui is to any woman who takes it as faithfully as Mrs. Dunbar took it. Wine of Cardui often makes quick cures. In fact it is known as an instant relief for menstrual suffering and bearing down pains, but there are deep seaded troubles that it takes time to cure. Wine of Cardui does not simply benumb the nerves by anaesthetic action, but goes directly to the root of the trouble, building up the tissue and thoroughly eradicating disease. The cures that Wine of Cardui effects are lasting because this great woman's remedy does its work thoroughly. We could publish letters telling of 1,500,000 strong minded women who wanted health and when Wine of Cardui was put within their reach they grasped it and their efforts were crowned with success. Don't you want freedom from pain? Do not be an object of pity! Take Wine of Cardui and make the one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today? Do not be an object of pity! Take Wine of Cardui and make the one supreme effort You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and a won in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today? It is a terrible thing to suffer so when relief is so near.
